To: The President, Barack Obama
of the United States of America,

Thursday, October 29, 2009

Dear Mr. President, Recently I was watching you on television while you addressed the nation speaking about health care. You stated many people have outright lied about your health care plan. A Republican called you a liar to your face on national television. This is the reason why I'm writing you about lying. I know there's not much you can do about politicians and lying. But you can help me. I am pro se in a lawsuit in Austin, Texas against my former employer, Public Access Community Television and the city of Austin.

The lawyers for Public Access Community Television have done nothing but lie in federal court. I complained about this to the judge he ignored my pleas and dismissed the case. The question is why are lawyers above the law? I complained of this lawyer speaking in code to this judge and, he never addressed the issue.

Judges and Attorneys seem to act with immunity to the general public they live in their own little world and it is up to the federal government to step in.

In Chicago in the early 20s gangsters ruled the city. The federal government had to step in and now I'm asking you to do the same. Attorneys and judges are just too close to regulate themselves. Mr. President, you have the power within the federal court system to uphold the law and make lawyers accountable for their actions by simply asking the attorney general to prosecute more attorneys for lying. When an attorney swears an oath to tell the truth and does not, what do you do? Who do you tell, who can do something about it?

Have you ever known any attorney to be prosecuted for lying? Are lawyers above the law? Do citizens really have the right to defend themselves? These are the questions the common man has to ask themselves.

After watching Wall Street and our economy collapsed before our very eyes, then learning that it was all based on lies told by the banking industry. Was this truly the reason why our economy collapsed? The assets and resources were just not there. Bankers lie about resources they were making loans on. Isn't this the reason why our economy failed, more lies.

Why do you arrest terrorist suspects for lying but not lawyers who lie in federal court every day? If you wish to reform the legal system the quickest way is to prosecute lawyers for lying. This will be a cost-effective method of reforming the legal system. Yes I've heard the old joke, if his lips are moving then he is lying to you. This is not a joke.

DAVID P GRIFFIN, PRO-SE

Lawyers often distort the truth, and cross over the line, but no one is there to call them on it. Judges and attorneys all buddies in a sorority called the legal community. Outsiders like me stand no chance. The system is designed this way. The law says I can represent myself, but we all know that's a joke. Laws are only for the wealthy and the ones who can manipulate it the best.

The Bar Association has many outreach programs for attorneys, none for citizens trying to represent themselves. The Bar Association is strictly to help attorney's not the general public, or citizens trying to navigate their way through the legal system. Why is that? When I complained to the Texas Bar Association, they simply sent my letter back with a form to be filled out. Just like so many other Americans I did not take the time to fill out the forms that they sent because I did not believe they would take me seriously. I sent them a letter describing the situation, I sent documents supporting my allegations, and all they wanted me to do was fill out the form. Truly a sign they did not care. Just like so many other Americans that is where it ended. Well, so much for the Texas Bar Association.

I'm writing to you looking for answers looking for justice; if not for myself then maybe it can help someone like me. I am a 54-year-old white man who cannot read or write well due to having dyslexia. I have no job and I am out here fighting the system for my rights alone. I know you're very busy and you have many things ahead of you, and I'm so sorry to take up your time with my problems. But, I have nowhere else to turn to.

Sincerely yours,

David P. Griffin
